AWFUL RETRIBUTION.

The Dago Assassins of New Orleans Massacred in Jail.

A Mob of Determined Avengers Break Into the Parish Jail and Shoot Down Eleven Sicilians.

Death Blow to the Oath-Bound Society of Mafia—Not a Dissenting Voice in All New Orleans to the Work of the Mob.

New Orleans, March 16.—New Orleans struck the Mafia a death blow Saturday. It rose in its might almost at midday and wreaked a terrible vengeance upon the Sicilian assassins who slew David C. Hennessey, and though there are eleven men dead who were happy Friday, the first victory is the greatest criminal trial the city has ever witnessed, the work of blood was accomplished, not a suspected murderer escapes, without paying, without gilding and without forgiveness. But the dagoers were merciless. Bang! Bang! Bang! rang out the reports of the murderous weapons and a deadly rain of bullets poured into the crouching figures.

Herault, the closest man, was struck in the head and the back and his body pitched forward and lay immovable on the stone pavement. Romero fell to his knees and then on his hands and in a faint position was shot to death. Monasterio and James Caruso fell together, and within half a dozen feet of them Polizzi, leaden pellets entering their bodies and heads, and the blood gushing from the wounds.

The bloody executioners did their work well, and beneath the continuing fusillade Macheca, Scaffidi, Marchesi, the man who had not been tried, but who were charged jointly with the others as the head of the Mafia in this country, literally riddled with buckshot and the very stone dead almost before the fatal work was over. When the grounds of assassins were discovered on the gallery Macheca, Scaffidi, and old man Marchesi were dragged from the other six and ran upstairs.

Further half a dozen men followed them, and as the horror stricken dagoers ran into cells they were slain. Joe Macheca, who was charged with being the arch conspirator, was a tiger for man and was summarily dealt with. He had his back turned when a shot struck him directly behind the ear, and he fell dead and was instantaneous. There was no blood from the wound, and when the body was found the ear was swollen so as to hide the wound, which the coroner had great difficulty in locating. Scaffidi, one of the ringleaders of the dago assassins, dropped like a log when a bullet hit him in the eye.

Old man Marchesa was the only man who was not killed outright. He was struck in the top of the head while he stood beside Macheca. The blow from a shot-gun loaded with buckshot and ball was not killed outright and in order to satisfy the people on the outside, who were crazy to know what was going on within, he was dragged down the stairs and through the doorway by which the crowd had entered. Though he was half dragged, he was taken to the corner. A rope was bundled and tied around his neck and the dago people pulled him to the cross bars. Not satisfied that he was dead, a score of men took aim and poured a volley of shot into the body for several hours the body was left dangling in the air.

Esposito was carried in the first rush upstairs, and the first volley of bullets pierced his brain. He was pulled out by a number of men through the main entrance to the prison, and from the hallway of the house his body was suspended, although he was already dead.

Just as soon as the bloody work was done Mr. Parkerson addressed the crowd, and asked them to disperse. This they consented to do with a ringing cheer, and first the body of Mr. Hennessey, Parkerson and, lifting him bodily, supported him on their shoulders while they marched to the front. The cheers gave cause back in a body to the third station and then separated. There was intense excitement but from one end of the city to the other the action of the citizens was applauded. O'Malley, a detective, who would have shared the fate of the assassins if he had been caught, has disappeared, and is not expected to return, and members of the jury are in hiding.

Names of the victims: Manuel Politz, Pietro Monasterio, Antonio Marchesi, Joseph P. Macheca, Antonio Marchesi, Antonio Ingnacio, Frank Romero, Jim Caruso, Charles Matherech, Frank Scaffidi.

—Tomites.

Before the vote, the Italian consul Shlacity, since that he called on the mayor of New Orleans and governor of Louisiana and asked for protection for the Italian subjects among the prisoners. None was given by the official. He immediately communicated the fact to the minister at Washington and also with the home government at Rome. Four of the eleven are Italian subjects, viz. Monasterio, Caruso Comitez and Teabias. The others are either of Italian birth or naturalized.

One of the chief causes of public indignation in connection with the Mafia was the belief that the secret society depended on bribery to secure the release of the assassins. It has been asserted that $75,000 or $100,000 was contributed by Italians all over the country to be used as a corruption fund. Thousands of dollars, it is said, came from Chicago, New York and other cities where the Italians are congregated in large numbers. It is certain that the poor Italian laborers in this vicinity were taxed $2 apiece as a contribution to the defense of the accused. There was no lack of money in the historical societies of Sicily, Rome, etc.

Washington, March 16.—Baron Fava, the Italian minister, yesterday formally brought to the attention of the president the bloody end the slaughter of Sicilian prisoners in the parish jail at New Orleans, Saturday. As a result, Secretary Blaine sent the following dispatch to Gov. Nicholls: "It has been represented to the president by the Minister of Italy accredited to this government that among the victims of the deplorable massacre which took place in the city of New Orleans on the 14th inst. were more subjects of the king of Italy, (our treaty with that friendly government would lead us to suppose) the institutions the supreme law of the land) guaranteed to the Italian subjects domiciled in the United States the most constant protection and security for their persons and property—making them amenable on the same basis as our own citizens, to the laws of the United States and of the several states in their due and orderly administration. The president deeply regrets that the citizens of New Orleans should have disregarded that security and adequacy of their own judicial tribunals as to transfer to the passions and judgment of a mob a question that should have been adjudge dispassionately and by settled rules of law. The government of the United States must give to the subjects of friendly powers that which it demands for our own citizens, when temporarily under a foreign jurisdiction. It is the hope of the president that you will cooperate with him in maintaining the obligations of the United States toward the Italian subjects who may be within the perils of the present excitement, that further bloodshed and violence may be prevented, and that all offenders against the law may be promptly brought to justice."

PROTEST FROM ITALY

Against the Massacre of the Italians in New Orleans.

Terms of the Victims said to Be Subject's of King Humbert, and There Are Therefore International Rights Involved.

Baron Fava, the Italian minister, Sunday, formally brought to the attention of the president the slaughter of Sicilian prisoners in the parish jail at New Orleans, Saturday. ON HIS MUSCLE.

A West Virginia Senator Stops the Senate Clock After Trying to Take Him to the Senate Chamber.

The West Virginia legislature adjourned at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, having set the clock back one hour, in the senate about 11 o'clock there was a question of voting. A call of the senate was ordered, and the sergeant-at-arms was sent out after absentees. Senator Faulkner, who was tempted to take Senator Knott, of Jefferson county, in, when the latter struck a telegraph pole and threw the car. Faulkner was fined $10 by the senate, which was afterward remitted, although he stubbornly refused to pay the fine. The senate was ordered, and the sergeant-at-arms was sent out after absentees. NEW ORLEANS LYNCHING.

The City Quiets Down—Secretary Blaine's Communication to the Governor Referred to the Attorney General.

New Orleans quieted down Monday, and the sober second thought of the people has returned. The telegram of Secretary Blaine to the governor in regard to the lynching of Italian prisoners caused some commotion, but was not unexpected. The telegram was sent direct to Governor Nicholls, and referred by him to Attorney-General Rogers. Attorney General Rogers has made an investigation of Saturday's occurrences at the jail. The prison officials say they recognized some of the persons who were in the mobs in the prison, and these names, it is said, have been forwarded to the attorney general. Some indictments may follow as a formality, but so great a number of people were concerned in the killing that it will be impossible to arraign them all, or to secure a conviction in case they should be arrested. The Italian consul, Signor Corte, says thus far report of the proceeding has been transmitted to Rome, and to the legation at Washington, and all further action will be taken through the legation.

CALLING THE ITALIANS.

Baron Fava Appeals to all the Consuls at New Orleans to Protect the Lives of Their Countrymen.

During the first excitement among the Italian residents of the United States Baron Fava sent to the Italian Consul General of New York the following telegram: "Learn from the papers that excitements prevailing in the Italian colony on account of the New Orleans events. I have resort to your influence and authority to urge upon the Italians of New York that they should by dignified, calm and strictly legal behavior, show them selves worthy of the esteem in which their civilized country. Relying upon your incontestable authority, as well as upon the patriotic feelings of the colony, I am sanguine that this advice will be followed.—Fava, Italian Minister. It is understood that similar instructions have been sent by Baron Fava to all the other Italian consuls in the United States in order to urge and assist by this means to the fullest extent possible all undue excitement.

English Comment on the Lynching.

The London St. James Gazette says: "The New Orleans incident shows that polite Americans have not lost the quality of stern resolution, which in countries disadvised by a life of comfort and luxury in modern society. The men who organized this defiance of formal justice are not ashamed of what they have done. They have defeated a society of foreign ruffians who were trying to terrorize a whole city. It is doubtful if 'John Bull' has enough grit left in him to protest in as emphatic a manner as the citizens of New Orleans have protested."

AS A WHOLE.

Educational Report Completed and Adopted.

What the New Constitution Will Provide For the Education of Kentucky's Youth.

The constitutional convention took up the proposed educational section on the 9th and spent the entire session in discussing it, the principal speakers being Chairman Jacobs and Judge Beckner. There was majority and minority reports, differing radically.

By a vote of 20 to 17 the constitutional convention on the 10th refused to adopt section 183, to reassemble August 3. The educational report was taken up, and the supporters of the majority and minority reports fought and debated the question of separate schools all day at Lexington. At its afternoon session an amendment was adopted recognizing the constitutes; institutions for the deaf and dumb, the blind, the colored people and the A. and M. colleges from the section providing that an educational tax be diverted from the common school fund.

In the convention on the 11th, the committee on education reported section 183, as follows: Sec. 1. The net proceeds of all sales of land granted to the state for educational purposes, or of escheated estates, and the net proceeds of all sales of estates of persons who may die without leaving a will or heirs, and the net proceeds of all sales of estates that may revert to the state from time to time, in the manner and under the conditions prescribed by law, and the proceeds of the sale of the said stock of the Bank of Kentucky shall be and remain inviolably appropriated to the common school purposes within the state, and the income only thereof shall be used.

Sec. 2. Each county in the commonwealth shall be entitled to its proportion of the interest on its census of pupils children for each school year, and if the per cent share of any county for such school year, it shall be converted into the treasury and placed to the credit of the several fund for general apportionment the following school year. Any county may borrow money on the several counties shall remain a perpetual obligation against the commonwealth for the benefit of said respective counties, for which the commonwealth shall execute to the board bearing interest at 6 per cent per annum, payable annually to the counties respectively, and to be the same and equally payable to the counties respectively, and to be the same and equally payable to the counties respectively, and to be the same and equally payable

THE HICKMAN COURIER.

HICKMAN, KY.,

FRIDAY, : : : MARCH 20, 1891.

FOR STATE SENATOR.

We are authorized to announce the Hon. HENRY GEORGE, of Graves county, as a candidate to represent Hickman, Fulton and Graves counties in the next State Senate, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

A year ago Thos. B. Reed was a Presidential possibility. To-day he is as dead as ex-Speaker Kelfer.

NEGROES who were deluded into going to Oklahoma by smooth-tongued land agents are returning to their Southern homes in large numbers. They found once more that there is no room in the North for the black man.

THE son of Senator Hearst, who has made such a marvelous success of his San Francisco newspaper proposes to start a daily in New York. His father left him $20,000,000 and with it he ought to be able to establish a paper.

EVENTS like the lynching of the Mafia crowd in New Orleans naturally lead to much talk and often unwarranted and excited statements. The men who composed the mob had no race prejudice. They simply protested against the further countenance of organized assassination.

THE man Macbeen, one of the Italians who was killed by the mob in New Orleans, last Saturday, and who was regarded as the chief of the conspirators was brought about the death of Hennessy, was no immensely wealthy man, who practically controlled the fruit trade of New Orleans.

THE Legislature of Indiana proposes to make it hard for trusts to exist in the State. A bill has been introduced making all combinations to decrease output, control prices or limit productions, criminal conspiracies to defraud, punishable by $1 000 to $5,000 fine, and two to five years' imprisonment. Every stockholder is to be such a criminal and fraudulent conspirator, the charter is to be forfeited, and civil damages to the amount of double the injury inflicted by a trust on a citizen's business can be recovered.

A PROMINENT physician of Reading, Pa., is engaged in a most remarkable and interesting experiment. Its aim, in fact, is the elimination of the color line or the turning of negroes' skin white. So far the experiments have been perfectly satisfactory. Skin taken from the persons of two negroes and grafted upon the limb of a white man turned perfectly white in a week. If further trials bear out the conclusion of this operation the doctor will have the race problem about solved, for by simply getting his cuticle removed and grafted upon the body of a Caucasian any negro can have a perfectly white skin.

[illegible] the next Congress touching the tariff would be to offer no general bill like the Mills bill, for instance, but to pass several bills through the House of Representatives reducing duties on certain articles, putting certain articles on the free list, some of which reductions and repeals of duty could be carried in the Senate. The idea is to secure such reductions as can be passed through the Senate, and not to go to the country on a tariff bill, at least until the attempt should have been made to redness or repeal duties on certain articles of general consumption.

THE McKinley bill contains a provision that reduces the tariff on sugar two cents a pound on and after the 1st day of April. As a result of this provision the wholesale grocers throughout the country are busy taking orders for sugar from their customers for April delivery at two cents a pound lower than the present prices. In other words taking off a tariff of two cents a pound has reduced the price of sugar two cents a pound. If this does not convince the people that the tariff is a tax and that by lowering the tariff you lower the tax on every price, nothing will. If reducing the tariff has reduced the price of sugar, would not reducing the tariff also reduce the price of clothing, shoes, blankets and hundreds of other articles that are necessaries of the people? The McKinley bill has given a practical object lesson to the people, that on those articles on which the tariff has been increased, the price has gone up, and on sugar, where the tariff has been decreased the price has gone down. Thanks to Mr. McKinley and the Republican party for the practical education they have given the people on this question. They will emphasize their instruction in 1892 in no uncertain way.

SENSATIONAL SUICIDE.

Fulton, Ky., March 14.—[Special]—A thrillingly sensational tragedy occurred in this city to day. John Heburg, formerly a ticket agent on the Illinois Central railroad at Jackson, Tenn., committed suicide in a most horrible manner. Just before noon he threw himself under a moving freight train of the Illinois Central, at the Lake street crossing, in the presence of many spectators. Several cars passed over his body, crushing and mangling it in a fearful manner. The ground was bespattered with his blood, and the bystanders were wholly paralyzed with horor, so sudden and unexpected was the act. Death must have been instantaneous. The unfortunate man had recently lost his wife, and it is supposed that the rash and fatal act was the result of grief and despondency. Heburg belonged to one of the best families in Georgia.

THE MASS MEETING.

Saturday, May 2nd, 1891.

There are thousands of Democrats, not farmers, in Kentucky, who earnestly sympathize with the general object and purposes of the Farmers' movement, known under the names of Alliance, Wheel, F. M. B. A's, &c., and are willing to co-operate with them toward securing certain reforms, State and National, but will only act with them inside the Democratic party; and nine-tenths of the Alliance members of this section are Democrats and assert their purpose to accomplish the same ends by voting the Democratic ticket.

Therefore, let all bear in mind that the mass meeting of the Democrats of Fulton county is to be held at the court house in Hickman, on Saturday, May 2nd, 1891, to instruct delegates to the State Convention to nominate a Democratic candidate for Governor and other State officers.

The COURIER regrets that a mass meeting at the county seat was ordered by the [illegible] Committee, because we think precinct primaries would have been more generally attended, but this is the ruling of the State Committee, and no Democrat in the county had ought to talk with it. If, however, only a few attend this mass meeting, our farmer brothers can the more easily obtain the nanning of their choice and, if we are in earnest in wanting the reforms contemplated, surely the loss of a day, or half day, to secure same will not be so grievously burdensome. Therefore attend the mass meeting at Hickman, May 2nd.

There are four candidates for Governor, Hardin, Brown, Clardy and Clay, all Democrats. The two first named are lawyes of ability, have occupied high public places, and well worthy the honor they seek. The two latter, Clay and Clardy, are practical farmers, members of the Alliance, men of superior ability, and every way worthy and qualified.

The COURIER a heartily for either of the four, and can fairly invite the friends of either to come out in force on My 2nd, and rejoice with the on who gets the most votes.

One Billion Dollars.

That represents the sum of the total expenditures and appropriations by the last Republican Congress.

And what has the people got for it?

How many [illegible] think about it, and your children make figures for you, to get into your mind some actual realization of the amount.

Jefferson's first Democratic administration cost only three millions of dollars. Then we had only six million population, and now six million; but how much more rapidly has the expense increased than the population? Then the country was recovering from the revolutionary war, and now from the war of the rebellion. Then there were no pensioners.

HELL AND THE SENATE.

In a conference between the two alliance members of the Illinois legislature and Gen. John M. Palmer, then a candidate for election to the United States senate, the following words were said:

"One thing we oitizens about you, General," said Mr. Cockrell, "is that in this long fight you have not given yourself away and have stood as the representative of your party and have made no concessions or MADE no trade or barter."

"I do not mean to go to hell by way of the senate, Mr. Cockrell," said Gen. Palmer, and the conference was at an end.

The famous ejaculation of Henry Clay, that he would rather be right than president will outlive a dozen generations because of the loftiness of patriotism which prompted it. "I do not mean to go to hell by way of the senate." Is as epigrammatic and fits in the times as well and puts an emphasis upon the tendency of latter day politicians to make great sacrifices of political principles and individual interests for which compiled by the glare of high position. There are too many roads to hell which lead through public office. Ambition too often seeks ends, and, while seeking, despises methods. Too many achievements of our politicians are tainted with moral corruption, whose bones will soon be scorched by the fires of hell.

Gen. Palmer's course in his great political contest was the course of a pure and upright man, who respected the dignity and value of the high office he was seeking, at the same time that he despised any prostitution of principles which would secure it to him. Now that he has been elected, Republican politics is the better off for it.—Nashville Herald.

The Memphis Appeal-Avalanche asks: "Is it not likely that the New Orleans affair will cause trouble between the United States and Italian governments? Were all the men killed American citizens? Was not the Italian consul assured that the defendants would be subjected only to the usual processes of the law? These are rather important questions just now, particularly in view of the fact that the Italian navy is, in some respects, the strongest in the world, and New Orleans is accessible."

The New Orleans Mob.

The work of the mob in New Orleans on Saturday last carries with it a great and serious lesson to hundreds of localities outside the City of New Orleans, or the State of Louisiana. Wherever killings and murders have been frequent, and from any cause whatsoever the guilty have escaped, the vast body of citizenship are made to feel the wrong and the insecurity to their own lives; and hence the power of the Courts failing to uphold justice the citizens assert it by their own power.

The New Orleans mob was at least decent and orderly in its management, and composed of leading merchants, bankers, lawyers, and the wealth and respectability of the city, and the work of the mob was afterwards approved at regular meetings of the Merchants' Exchange, the Cotton Exchange, and other business bodies. The Chief of Police had been assassinated because he was discharging his duty as an officer of the law, and in so doing had arrested certain Italians, some of whom were presumably members of an Italian secret society known as the "Mafia." The startling feature of the "Mafia" is that the members are sworn to remove by assassination any enemy or enemies of the order when so ordered by the Lodge. Numerous assassinations of this kind have occurred in New Orleans, chiefly among the Italian citizens, but all defied detection. The Chief of Police, so cruelly assassinated, was supposed to be at work on these cases, and for this he was murdered. The prisoners murdered by the mob were Italians, charged with this murder, and the proof of their guilt appeared to be positive; and yet, after a trial of six weeks, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. Some of the members of the Mafia are very wealthy, and it is claimed to be known that the jury was bribed. Hence the mob.

It is hard for good citizens to know what is best to do under such a condition of affairs. Officers of the law, friends of the law, preachers of the gospel, and good men generally, may point out that the safety of society is best protected by law, but when a peaceable, law abiding community see murderers enter court and come out triumphant, through bribed juries, terrified witnesses, the sharp practice of lawyers, and like causes, how can that community preserve its confidence in the ability of the courts to protect life, liberty and property? The judge may be [illegible] right, but how can the judge or the law reach corrupt juries or terrified witnesses, even when that the sharp practices of lawyers could be controlled?

These are grave questions, which communities feeling the outrage will deal with. If there is a remedy better than mob law in such conditions, what is it?

GROVER CLEVELAND.

(Courier-Journal)

If New York comes to the National Democratic Convention resisting the nomination of Mr. Cleveland, or seriously divided upon it, his nomination would be suicidal. In that event, the party will be compelled to quit New York altogether; for nothing could be more absurd than the suggestion of seeking aside Mr. Cleveland and substituting Gov. Hill, or any other New Yorker, to his place. When we leave Cleveland we leave New York. In the interval, and however, the ex-President should be treated with the respectful consideration alike commanded by his public services and the obligation we owe to the single Democratic President we have had in thirty years.

WHAT THE MAFIA IS.

The "Mafia" is a Sicilian organization, and in that country is no aggregation of all the criminal classes on the island. It corresponds with the Camorra of Naples.

The name "omon" has its origin in 'La Mafia" a comedy of prison life written in 1860 by a Sicilian dramatist, Signor Rizzot. The name itself is meaningless, a sort of prison slang used in the Sicilian prisons expressive of a covenant made between warders and prisoners were to keep order and levy blackmail on the weaker convicts, the jailers sharing in the profits.

To the Sicilians manliness and bravery recognize no law to atone for wrongs done them by their neighbors. To appeal to the law for protection would be dishonorable, and the strongest naturally the most weaker one. Whoever can provide for his own protection and the protection of his property.

HE IS "MAFIOSO."

The Sicilian belief is that might makes right, and if a man has been done a wrong his own hand will protect him. It may take years to be avenged, and trachery and cowardice may be the weapon employed, but if he finally revenges himself it will be looked upon by the mafia as honorable and just. If the injured Sicilian be not strong enough to resent the injuries received he must suffer in silence and bide his time. This hatred of an appeal to the law and the resort to self-vengeance is innate in every Sicilian.

War with Italy.

The New Orleans affair gives some talk as to war probabilities with Italy. The Italian government has asked of the United States an explanation as to the protection of Italians in this country, and Secretary Blaine has addressed to the Governor of Louisiana a request for protection of the prisoners. The Italians in this country, as well as at home, are apparently very indignant, and will possibly push the Italian government to stirring up a great commotion, but the worst that will come of it will be a bill of damages to the extent of several millions of dollars to help out the Italian treasury, and probably the widows and children of the men killed by the mob may get some of it. But there will be no war, for there is no cause. The men murdered in New Orleans were not slain because they were Italians, or through any race or national prejudice, and if they had been the United States as a Government had no part in it. They were killed because they were bad men; but if they were innocent men they were killed by bad men, which leaves it at the feet of individuals, and in no sense a national affair.

Foreigners, subject of other countries, have been killed in every city of the United States, and frequently killes by whole sale by mobs, and ye no war resulted. In the Louisville knownothing riot, the Irish and Germans were killed by the hundreds. And so it was in New York, Philadelphia and other cities. Two years ago the Chinese were butchered like so many hogs, and "Not Guilty" finally had to pay the Chinese government for them pretty high, but there was no war. Hence, the opinion that there will be no war with Italy.

If it be a fact, and can be easily proved, that the Mafia assume a organization actually exists in New Orleans, and there appears no doubt of it, the civilized world, including the Italian government, will rejoice at their exterminations by any means possible. The Italian government, itself, has been pursuing this society without mercy for years. Besides, if it shall develop that the Italians killed were all subjects of this country, citizens of Louisiana, as some claim they of course all complaint upon the part of the Italian government, ends.

ALLEGED PROGRAM.

[illegible] delegate from [illegible] to the Constitutional Convention, and a leader of some ability, recently told a representative of the Owensboro Messenger that it was his information that the Alliance would not attempt to take a hand in the State election, but was intending to confine its efforts to securing the Legislature; that the order was too young in sections of the State to those to control in the State offices this year, but believed that by keeping hands off of them they could in a majority of the counties elect the members of the Legislature.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

HALL OF KENTUCKY LODGE, 340, K. of H., HICKMAN, KY., March 13, 1891.

WHEREAS, On the 13th day of January, 1891, the Supreme Dictator of the K. of H. removed from our midst, by death, Brother Wm. Grissom, and while we deeply deplore the loss of our brother, who had but a short while before his death taken upon himself the obligations of our noble order we humbly bow in submission to the dispensation of Him who doeth all things well; and

Whereas, It is the desire of this Lodge to put on record its appreciation of our departed brother, it is therefore,

Resolved, That in the death of Brother George our Lodge has lost a worthy member, the community a good citizen, and his family a kind husband and devoted father.

Resolved, That the heart-felt sympathies of this Lodge be tendered to the bereaved family of our deceased brother, and that we commend them to Him who is the God of the fatherless and the father of the fatherless, and who alone can "temper the wind to the shorn lambs."

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered on the record of the Lodge, a copy sent to the family of our deceased brother, and published in the Hickman Courier.

LETTER FROM A KENTUCKY BOY TO THE FRANCHISE.

OTHO, Colo., March 12, 1891.

Editor Hickman Courier:

Dear Sir: That I am anything but one of the literati will become painfully evident to the moral aesthete in literature Nevertheless, I shall write you a short letter which may prove interesting to some of your many readers. Imagine yourself surrounded on all sides by majestic mountains clothed in a mantle of white, their peaks seeming to pierce the azure vault, rugged and broken on their sides, with canons and shallow yawning with open mouths that you can gaze into the very center of the earth. The mountains are traversed with trails leading to the different mines, where the precious metals are delved after by the venturesome and reckless prospector, who is first to discover the treasures hidden by mother earth. Your humble servant has spent thirteen years in the Rocky Mountains prospecting for the wherewith that would bring him an abundance of the filthy lucre, and it was only last July that he succeeded in finding the long sought for.

I am at present engaged in mining, with extremely favorable prospects of realizing what I have often dreamed of and longed for. Many weary days have I spent tramping along a trail on the mountain's side, or up some rugged, stony and precipitous canon, following a small burro, a small Mexican jack with all my many years savings which consisted of a roll of blankets, a gunny sack trunk a frying pan, pick and shovel, and grub for two weeks packed on his back. Imagine the consequences if my burro had slipped and fell over some one of the many cliffs and precipices that I had to pass. I would have been left without bed or provender. I can say without hyperbole that I often during the month of August I have sat on the top of a mountain and plodded a bronco with one hand and a snow ball with the other. To explain, I will say that it is since the snow that the mercury drifts very deep in some places and does not melt until now some time again. There are places more here that the snow has never been out of since the country has been inhabited by white men.

This is one of the best mining camps of the Silvery San Juan. We have had an extremely heavy snow fall here this winter. The snow in the mountains is about eight feet on a level. There has been many slides and some ten men killed by them in this immediate vicinity.

Colorado will certainly go for a silver man for President, be he solid or silmay, Republican or Democrat, Farmers' Alliance or Prohibitionist. More anon.

—Mr. F. E. Case, of Hickman, the agent of the Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association of New York, presents a "Business Proposition" to the public through the COURIER this week, which every reader should not only read but investigate, for if you desire life insurance, surely this Association has features of great merit. Mr. Case is a live and pushing agent, and from all we can learn represents a solid, cheap and thoroughly reliable insurance.

—Standard Oil Company's Oil at F. E. Case's. Headlight 15 ct's per gallon. Fireproof 20 ct's per gallon. 1 and 2 cents less by buying 5 and 10 gallons.

A well-known young lady in Chattanooga states that Red Cloud, the young Sioux Chief and lieutenant of Sitting Bull, is not an Indian, but her own brother. In 1857, when but three years old he was stolen from his home in Wisconsin and could not be found until eighteen years later, having lived with the Indians all that time. He remembered his father's name and the names of his dogs and identification was complete. He returned to his family for a few weeks, then went back to the Sioux reservation. He could speak a little French, but only a few sentences of broken English. He felt a warm sympathy for the Sioux, whom he protested had been greatly wronged.

—ATTENTION K. OF P.S.—All members of Hickman Lodge, No. 63, K. of P., are requested to attend the meeting next Wednesday night, as there is business of importance to transact.

Grand Excursion!

—The excursion train from Hickman to Nashville, Chattanooga, and Lookout Mountain, leaves Hickman at 8:30 a. m. Round trip to Nashville $13.00; to Chattanooga and return, $6.00 Good for 5 days. Remember the date, Wednesday, April 8th at 8:30 a. m.

—The river at Hickman had receded about one foot from present flood height up to Wednesday morning, and has been rising slowly since. The present rise will probably not more than regain the foot fallen, if that, but will hold the river up for one or two weeks, and in the meantime no one can tell what additional waters may come. If the water is out of the way by the first of April, the "bottom" farmers are all right.

Button's Raven Gloss!

A great many ladies are prejudiced against the use of shoe polish, because of the inferior stuff that is being palmed off on them, causing the leather to harden, scale or crack. "Raven Gloss" is the result of scientific study, and imparts a new and flexible finish, which neither sours or rubs off, preserving the leather. It is especially adapted to ladies' fine kid boots. Try it. For sale by —Lev. James, the prisoner who killed James Garvin at Fulton, under sentence of death, and whose execution was suspended by the Sheriff because of a verdict of insanity, is, by report of different persons who have had access to him, much improved physically, and has at times at least, recovered his reasoning faculties. He eats well, answers questions sometimes with perhaps as much intelligence as he ever could, but at other times refuses to talk at all, and at all times refuse to wear clothing. Some of our people never have believed that he was crazy, and some who did believe so now think that he has been possessing, and others that his mind is returning with his improved physical condition. Our understanding is that when the sheriff becomes convinced of his sanity, that it becomes his duty to notify the Governor of the fact and the Governor then fixes a day for his execution. If the prisoner's mind is as well balanced as the report of some make it, his execution will, probably, not be much longer delayed.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company

J. E. Bastian, for blacksmith work, 2 90
P. Bannon, bill sewer pipe Feb. 19, 19 88

ASSESSMENTS ORDERED.

The following parties appeared before the Council and complained that the recent raise on their property was excessive, and, they satisfying the Council that such was the fact, on motion the following changes were made to-wit:

Dr. Bastian, raise on stock and fixtures reduced from $500 to $250
Buckner & Judge, raise on stock and fixtures reduced from $2000 to $1,400.

WATER WORKS BONDS.

The City Clerk presented to the Council a form for Water Works Bonds, which, on motion, was approved and ordered filed.

On motion, the Mayor is requested to have printed for distribution the following advertisement for bids for Water Works Bonds, to-wit:

HICKMAN, KY., WATER WORKS BONDS FOR SALE!

$20,000 City of Hickman, Ky., coupon bonds, in denomination of $500, dated May 1st, 1891, and due 30 years after date, with 6 per cent. per annum interest from date, payable semi-annually, at any bank or place desired by purchaser, will be for option as to earlier payment of principal by said city.

Sealed bids will be received on the whole issue of $20,000, or any fractional part of same not less than $5,000, until Monday, April 20th, 1891, at 7 o'clock, p. m., by the undersigned, at his office in said city, at which time said bids will be opened.

Each bidder will be required to accompany his bid with a certified check of deposit of an amount equal to 2 per cent. of his bid, at some bank, at the same payable to the undersigned as a guarantee for the compliance of the bidder in the event his bid is accepted. Bonds will be delivered on the first day of May, 1891.

The right to reject any or all bids reserved.

Any information as to the financial standing, &c., of this city will be promptly given upon the application of those desiring to make bids.

By order of the City Council of the City of Hickman, Ky., dated March 17th, 1891.
J. W. COWGILL, Mayor.

DECLARED A NUISANCE.

On complaint of many citizens, the attention of the Council is called to the indecent and unlawful assembling on Jackson street, and on motion the City Marshal is directed to have same abated as a nuisance, and in arrest of such violators of the law and bring them before the city mayor for trial.

On motion, Council adjourned.
Attest,
W. L. MCCUTCHEN, C. C.

FACTS FOR THE PEOPLE.

Lemon Chill Tonic is more generally used, is more pleasant to take and more certain to cure than any chill tonic on the market. The proprietors authorize the persons, whose names are in this article, to guarantee each bottle to do what is claimed for it or refund the money. Instead of the sickening stuff you had to give your sick child, take to so pleasant to take that they look with pleasure to the time for another dose. For sale by Cowgill & Cowgill.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

This is the Verdict of Mr. I. W. Falls, 321 Seventh street, Paducah, Ky., who said that if his little girl had not accepted congestive chill she would have died. This is what he writes us. "I have used your Lemon Chill Tonic in my family and find it all you claim. It has no bad taste, but is deliciously flavored. My little daughter, who suffered for some time with chills and fever, watched the clock in breathless anticipation of the dose. Lemon Chill Tonic not only does away with the bitter and nauseating mixture usually prescribed for ague, but effects a speedy and permanent cure. I very gladly testify to the merit of a medicine which I have seen used in my family with such signal success." Take no other. Price 50 cents. For sale by Cowgill & Cowgill.

CORRUPT AMUSEMENTS

Is One of the "Plagues of the Cities."

The World Is a Rose and the Universe a Garland, and Bad Amusements Are the Worst Plagues Therein.

Dr. Talmage's sermon Sunday, which is the fourth of the series, was on "Bad ful Amusements." The text was II Samuel II., 14: "Let the young men now arise and play before us."

There are two armies encamped in the pool of Hebron. They are large, heavily on their hands. One army proposes a game of sword-fencing. Nothing could be more healthful and innocent. The other army accepts the challenge. Twelve men against twelve men, the sport opens. But something went adversely.

Perhaps one of the swordsmen got his unlucky slip, or in some way had his guard aroused, and that which opened in sportfulness ended in violence—gashes, taking his contestant by the hand and then with the sword thrusting him in the side; so that that which opened in innocent fun ended in the massacre of all the twenty-four sportsmen. Was there ever a better illustration of what is wrun true then, and is true now, that which is innocent may be made destructive?

What of a worldly nature is more important and strengthening and lie recent than amusement, and yet what has counted more victims? The many impromptu piety with a straight-laced religion. This is a very serious subject, and I propose to do all I can to make it bright for others.

I never could keep step to a dead-march. A book years ago loosed says that a Christian man has a right to some amusements for himself. He comes home at night weary from his work, and, feeling the need of recreation, puts on his slippers, and comfortable garret, and walks lively round the floor several times, there can be no harm in it. I believe the man who spent that made a tremendous mistake in trying to suppress the sportfulness of youth, and drive out from any man the element of amusement. If God ever implanted any thing in us, He implanted the desire. But instead of providing for this demand of our nature, the church of God, has, for the main part, chained it hand and foot. It plants a battery at the end of the street, and has it fired off, so that every thing is put down that happens to stand in the range, the good as well as the bad, so there are men in the church who plant their batteries of condemnation, and fire away indiscriminately. Every thing is condemned. But my little friends, those who use the world without abusing it, and in the natural world, God has done every thing to provide and amuse us. In poetic figure we sometimes speak of natural objects as being in pain, but it is mere fancy. Trees say the clouds weep, but they never yet shed a tear, and that the winds sigh, but they never did have any trouble, and that the storm howls, but it never lost its temper. The world is a rose and the universe a garland.

And I am glad to know that in all our cities there are plenty of places where we may find educational and entertainments. But all honest men and good women will agree with me in the statement that one of the worst plagues of our cities is corrupt amusement. Multitudes have gone down under the blasting influence of this curse. If we take a judge of what is going on in many of the places of amusement by the sodom-ite pictures on boards, and in many of the show-windows, there is not a much lower depth of profligacy to reach at Naples, Italy, than by such pictures locked up from indiscriminate inspection. Those pictures were exhumed from Pompeii and are not for public gaze. If the effrontery of bad pieces of amusement in hanging out improper advertisements of what they are doing night by night grow worse in the same proportion, in fifty years New York and Brooklyn will beat not only Pompeii, but Sodom.

To help stay the plague now raging I project certain principles by which young judge in regard to any amusement or recreation, finding out for yourself whether it is right or whether it is wrong.

I remark, in the first place, that you can judge of the moral character of any amusement by its healthful result or by its baleful reaction. There are people who seem unable up of hard facts. They are a combination of multiplication tables and solar system. If you have been in exquisite pieture they will begin to discuss the pigments involved in the color of it. If you have been in a concert for those they will submit it to a botanical analysis, which is only the post mortem examination of a song. They have no rebound in their nature. They never do anything more than smile. There are no great tides of feeling surging up from the depths of their soul in billow after billow of reverence-ing inspiration. They never in all their had built them by contract and made a lounging job out of it.

But I heard be God, there are people in the world who have bright faces and whose life is a song, an anthem a psalm of victory. Even their troubles are like the vines that crawl up the side of a great tower, on the top of which the sunlight sits, and the soft air of summer hold perpetual carnival. They are the people you like to have come to your house. What is the people like to have come to my house. If you but touch the hem of their garments you are healed.

Now it is these exhilarating and sympathetic and warm-hearted people that we need supplied to perform our entertainments. In proportion as a ship a swift it wants a strong behooving in proportion as you desire to get it speak about river, and these people of exuberant nature will do well to look at the reaction of their amusements.

If an amusement sends you home at night nervous so that you can no sleep, when you rise up in the morning not like the vines that crawl up the side of a great tower, on the top of which the sunlight sits, and the soft air of summer hold perpetual carnival. They are the people you like to have come to your house. What is the people like to have come to my house. If you but touch the hem of their garments you are healed.

If an amusement sends you home at night nervous so that you can no sleep, when you rise up in the morning not refreshed but all the more tired because you are slept out, but because your duty drags you from your slumbers, you have been where you ought not to have been. There are amusements that send a man next day to his work irritable, raving, stupid, nauseated; and they are wrong kinds of amusement. They are entertainments that give a man disgust with the drudgery of life, with tools because you are not servants, with working aprons because they are not robes, with cattle because they are not infuriated bulls of the prairie, but enjoyable and useful creatures. They are amusements
